THE PLUMBER'S TRUST.

Attorney General Little Says He Will Prosecute Its Members.

Attorney General Little received a letter today from E. S. Ellis of Concordia asking his opinion about the Master Plumbers' Benevolent association. The writer says that the organization was made to control the business of dealers in plumbing supplies and that those who are not members of the association can not buy from wholesale houses and that he has letters to prove the facts.

The attorney general holds that such an organization comes under the provision of the Kansas trust law and that the members are liable to criminal prosecution.

He says: "If you cannot yourself procure this evidence if you will furnish me the letters referred to I will set on foot an investigation of this matter and if I discover that any of the parties are engaged in this trust I shall at once order the county attorney to commence a prosecution and I shall give all the assistance in my power that he may crush out these unwholesome combinations that are organizing in our state."

This is the largest of the plumbers' organizations and has 10,000 members. There are thirty-five Kansas firms who are members. The last meeting was held at Lawrence, May 14. The state officers are: President, James Foley, Leavenworth; vice president, J. H. Beasley, Pittsburg; secretary, F. W. Doane, Lawrence; treasurer, G. W. Seales, Atchison.

C. J. Prescott of the firm of Prescott & Allen of this city said, in talking about the organization:

"Several years ago the plumbing business in the west was in a demoralized condition. It was principally in the hands of men who were not practical plumbers and who knew nothing about sanitary plumbing. That is what called this organization into existence. Any one can become a member who passes a satisfactory examination in proof that he is competent to do a sanitary job of plumbing."

And Wouldn't Let Her Go to See Her Mother.

Melissa Welchel has applied to the district court for a divorce from her husband Calvin A. Welchel. She says they were married at Concordia, Kansas, March 26, 1893. She says he has called her a fool and refused to allow her to go to see her mother. When she did go to see her mother he drove her home with a club. She also says he has failed to support her and she wants a divorce and the custody of their six months old baby.

J. B. Ferry read a paper on "The Pardoning Power" before the Saturday Night club at its last meeting.

TO CAPTURE THE RIVER.

Sanders Tells a "Journal" Reporter That Will Be the Next Move.

The Sanders camp at Leavenworth is located just south of the fort in a shady little valley. It is much prettier than the one they had at Topeka, but the men say they had rather be here although they are now getting three meals a day. There have been several deserters, including the banjoist, and the army now numbers only 312. A STATE JOURNAL reporter visited the camp Saturday evening and gave the men the first intimation that Judge Foster could not hear their case for twenty days, and that District Attorney Perry would endeavor to have them liberated. They were wild with joy and yelled themselves almost hoarse. "I have been expecting it," said Sanders, "and if they turn us loose we will probably capture the river this time. I have been trying to buy an old steamboat here, the 'Belle of Brownville,' but they want $2,000 for her and I shall probably go to Kansas City and see if I cannot get another steamboat that I hear is idle there. We have men who know how to run it. There is no danger that we shall take a train here."

The reporter visited the camp again Sunday, but found no change in the situation. There were several visitors there and some of the ladies insisted on meeting Sanders, who is quite a ladies' man. Some of the town boys were at the camp and beat the "army" nine at a game of base ball. When not entertaining the ladies Sanders spent his time with a deck of gilt edged cards. He boards at the National hotel down town and is rapidly acquiring aristocratic habits, not getting up some mornings until nine or ten o'clock.

A day's rations for the army consists of 415 pounds of beef, 352 pounds of bread, 32 of coffee, 45 of beans, 45 of sugar, 32 of salt, 13 of soap, 12 ounces of pepper, 5 bushels of potatoes, and one cord of wood.

The army hopes to move by Wednesday, if released, and if it cannot secure a steamboat will try to get the pontoons that belonged to the old bridge.

"How about your 420 suits for $20,000 damages each against the Missouri Pacific?"

"Oh, that was a great big bluff," said Sanders, "still if they don't let us go, we'll file them, yet."

OVER EXERTION

Knocks Out a Bicyclist Who Was Making a Record.

Arthur Murphy, Philip Eastman, John Johnson, Charles Downing and Ed Walker made a run to Carbondale Sunday morning on their bicycles. They went to Wakarusa in fifty minutes. Arthur Murphy and Philip Eastman set the pace. When just this side of Wakarusa Murphy's wheel got the best of him and he ran into a large boulder, breaking the wooden rim of the bicycle and landing the rider in a "sitting posture" on the side of the road.

On the way back Ed Walker became fatigued and when found was lying in the road suffering from chills. A German farmer fed him hot milk and applied hot irons to his feet. The chills were stopped after a short time and Walker was brought into the city in a buggy.

The rival base ball teams at the state house played a game Saturday afternoon. It took ten innings to decide the game, and in the last inning the west wing team scored a run and won the game.

WASHBURN COMMENCEMENT.

Preparations for the Big Event of the Year.

Washburn college will close a successful school year June 13. Already preparations are being made toward the perfecting of arrangements.

Mrs. Julia Seibert's pupils will furnish vocal music and Miss Helen Ingalls' students, instrumental, for the commencement exercises.

The senior class consists of ten members as follows: Messrs. D. L. McEachron, Chas. D. Welch, Julius Weidling, Wm. H. Mason, Warren W. Finney and Hugh Virgil Donnell, and Misses Roscoe A. Scott, Gertrude Dowsy, May A. Osgood and Mattie B. Newell.

Mr. McEachron has the highest marking in his work and will therefore deliver the valedictory oration. Miss Scott won second place and Mr. Welch third.

On Wednesday morning June 13th, the graduating exercises take place. On the Monday evening June 11, occurs the commencement of the academy.

The following will graduate from the academy, or preparatory department: Messrs. Fair, Ward, A. H. McDonald, H. L. Nelson, C. M. Irelan, John Hyatt, Eric Hammers, Otto Hakes, P. S. Elliott, F. G. Drenning, J. S. Dague, and D. N. Wade, and Misses Mabel Wilson, Lillian McFarland, Mabel Barnes, Eva L. Brown, Susie Guild, Mary Harrison, May Nelson and Clara McDonald.

The vocal department of the college was somewhat set back by the sudden departure of Miss Hattie Walker, who is now Mrs. W. H. Cochrane of Mercer, Penn.

There was also some unavoidable delay in getting the new teacher. It may be said for Mrs. Seibert that she has accomplished a great deal by her energetic work.

The graduates in vocal music are Misses Adelaide Stich, Minnie Bishop and Edna Pierce.

In Miss Ingalls' piano department will graduate Misses Lizzie Pond, Trissa Greenwood and Adelaide Stich.

The date for the graduation of these musical students is Tuesday evening, June 12.

All the meetings will be held in the college chapel and all are free to the public.

TOPEKANS IN A DUNGEON.

Salvation Army Leaders in Jail at Kansas City.

Captain James Flood, Lieutenant H. Brown and Private William Grier, of the Topeka division of the Salvation Army, were arrested in Kansas City Saturday night by Policemen Meloney, on the charge of obstructing the street. The Star says of the case:

"The three enthusiastic followers of General Booth went down to the State Line to convert some of the frequenters of the gambling houses and pool rooms. One had a banjo, another a guitar and the third a strong pair of lungs. They took a stand in the middle of State Line street with the E. Fox & Co.'s fake lottery shop on the Kansas side and a saloon on the Missouri side. Five minutes after the meeting was opened Clay Malby's pool hall was almost deserted and the crowd blocked the street, but Patrolman Meloney came along and broke up the meeting by arresting the three men. At the James street station they made things merry for the other prisoners and police guards by shouting and singing until they were finally released on their own recognizance to appear Monday morning to answer to the charge of obstructing the streets."

LIKE A "SHIVAREE."

Washburn Students Make a Terrible Noise Just For Fun.

There was a "rough house" at Washburn college Saturday evening, and several of the people living in the vicinity lost considerable sleep as a result of it. If Hank Lindsey's police had been out there they would probably have fled in terror, for a more unearthly noise would be hard to produce.

All this "celebration" was at the home of Martin Mohler, 1326 College avenue, but not by Mr. Mohler's consent.

The senior class of Washburn college was entertained by Miss Laura Mohler. About 10 o'clock a body of sixty students belonging to the other classes of the college assembled in the yard. They were armed with dish pans, tin pans, whistles, horse fiddles and a bugle.

At a given signal the entire aggregation began to thump and blow. People within a radius of a quarter of a mile were aroused from their slumbers by this intolerable noise. The racket was kept up for nearly an hour and people turned over in bed and prepared to make up for
